

While traveling cross country for our daughters wedding we came upon inclement weather, including tornado warnings and severe weather. Had we not had access to the xm weather channel, we might have driven right into the storm. The local channels in each state were difficult to access. In addition I used the xm while in L.A. to find different accesses to the airport to pick up relatives that were also coming for the wedding. It was very reassuring to have this product in my car. I am completely sold on my XM radio.
